Easy Rhubarb Cordial

Ingredients - 500g rhubarb, cut into 1cm slices, 200g granulated sugar.

Method - Step 1- Put 300g of the rhubarb in a container and freeze. Put the remaining rhubarb in a jar or container with the sugar and 100ml water, giving it a good stir, then cover and put in the fridge for 2-3 days - it's a long time to wait, but this will allow the sugar to dissolve and the rhubarb's colour and flavour to infuse into the liquid.

Step 2- After 2-3 days, put the frozen rhubarb in a metal bowl. Cover tightly with foil, then set it over a pan of simmering water. Leave the rhubarb to defrost and then cook like this for 2 hours - the freezing process breaks down the cells in the rhubarb which then allows the juice to leach out of it once heated.

Step 3- Strain the juice from the frozen and cooked rhubarb into a sterilised jar or bottle, then strain the syrupy liquid from the other rhubarb into it, mixing the two liquids together. Keep in the fridge for up to a week. To serve, mix 30ml of the rhubarb cordial with 30ml of non-alcoholic spirit or gin, then top with soda water.

You'll need to be patient when making this cordial, but it's almost effortless to actually create. Use the cordial in a cocktail, or simply top it up with soda water for a seriously good thirst-quencher.

The Importance of Shady Spots in Your Garden When it comes to gardening, shade is an essential feature that should not be overlooked. It's important to protect delicate plants from the scorching summer sun, and introducing clusters of native shrubs and small trees, such as wattles, can do just that. By serving as a natural barrier against the sun, these plants provide a protective cover for your more sensitive flora. This is especially crucial for plants that are in west-facing boundaries and are exposed to the intense heat of the afternoon sun. Remember to consider the importance of shade when designing your garden.

RETIRING COUNCILLOR

It is with regret that the Shire President, Councillor George Pollard, accepted Councillor Peter Slater's resignation from his position on Council after the Ordinary Council Meeting on 13 December 2023. Cr Peter Slater has been a Councillor since 2017 and with his background in health, safety and tourism has made a valuable contribution to Council through his knowledge and expertise. He has also contributed in many ways as a volunteer in the community for St Johns Ambulance, the Cranbrook Men's Shed and the Seniors in Cranbrook.

The vacancy will be filled by our first backfill candidate, Jen Quick who has already served on Council and was a very valuable contributor to the decision making process. This will mean that we do not have to hold an extraordinary election due to the availability of a backfill candidate. We are pleased to welcome Cr Jen Quick.

CRANBROOK CEMETERIES

The Shire of Cranbrook recognises the importance to the community of the local cemeteries. They represent people's culture, identity, and heritage, and comprise a resource which allow the community to delve back into their past. The graves represent the last public memorials of many people who were involved with the growth of the local area in which they are buried. For that reason, the Shire of Cranbrook is implementing a policy of marking six "unmarked" graves – those without a visible headstone and a number only, each year, with a simple plaque with details of the person's name, date of birth, date of death, and hopefully a sentence about their lives.

This will ensure that as time moves on, people are not totally forgotten.

As part of this process, the Community Development Team have selected the following and are seeking any information about these people:

CRANBROOK CEMETERY:

Plot No. A2 B3 C4 C13 C22	Name	Burial Date
A2	Susan Gabnel Kinsella	14/11/1933
B3	Fred Punch	15/08/1955
C4	Jeffrey Allan Keith Dunn	21/03/1938
C13	William Arthur Smith	12/02/1957
C22	Leonard Joseph Chamberlain	22/11/1969

Please forward any details that you may have via email to admin@cranbrook.wa.gov.au or contact Jenny Cristinelli on 9826 1008.

CAMPING AND COOKING FIRES

No camping or cooking fires are permitted within the Shire of Cranbrook during the Prohibited Burning Period 1 November to 14 February (Dates inclusive);

During the Restricted Burning Period 1 October to 30 October and 15 February to 30 April (dates inclusive);

- a permit must be obtained from the local Fire Control Officer for all camping and cooking fires on private property; and
- Additional written permission must be obtained from the Local Government CEO for all camping and cooking fires located on Shire property and Council Reserves; and
- A camping and cooking fire is described as;
- A solid fire which is contained in a designated fire pit, or
- A solid fuel barbeque contained in a fire safe receptacle, or;
- A wood fired pizza oven

That must meet safety requirements detailed in Section 25 of the Bushfires Act 1954. A camping and cooking fire not contained by one of the above mentioned practices, are not permitted.

Festival fiasco – know how to avoid ticketing blues

You've got your outfit picked and you know all the words to your favourite band's songs

- then they cancel as a headlining act. There are other bands to see but you're still disappointed and you assume you're not entitled to a refund.

Well, that's not entirely true. You have rights under Australian Consumer Law (ACL) when things go wrong and an event is cancelled or has a major change (such as the date, the location or the headliner doesn't perform). It's worth noting these rights don't just apply to music festivals and live concerts. You have the same rights if the event is a food or arts festival, expo, sporting event, convention or other large event.

If the event is cancelled, you may be entitled to a full refund from the company that sold you the ticket. If you lost extra money due to the cancellation, such as from cancelling flights or accommodation, contact the ticketing agent first. The ACL says a business must provide the goods or service it advertised.

If the event goes ahead but is significantly different from what was advertised, you may also have a right to a refund on the grounds you were misled, or because you would otherwise not have bought a ticket in the first place had you known the line up, venue, date or any other important feature, would change so much.

What happens if a support act cancels, or traffic delays meant you missed the first few songs of the headliner? We recently saw this with the Robbie Williams concert in the Swan Valley. In these types of cases there may be grounds to receive a partial refund.

With any of these issues, in the first instance you should contact the ticketing agent to attempt to negotiate a solution. If you have issues obtaining a refund or the ticket is refused at the gate, the event is cancelled or your ticket doesn't arrive, then we recommend seeking a chargeback from your bank.

If this fails, Consumer Protection may be able to assist to find a reasonable solution. And just like any other purchase, hold on to your receipts and purchase details. If issues can't be resolved, lodge a formal complaint on the Consumer Protection website consumerprotection.wa.gov.au. For more information on your rights when it comes to festivals and events, check out our fact sheet on the website: comsumerprotection.wa.gov.au/consumer-protection/music-festivals-and-outdoor-event.

Alcohol - Taking Time to Consider Our Drinking Behaviours

When a new year comes around it gives us a chance to focus on ourselves, our drinking habits and the importance of a healthy balanced lifestyle. Speaking with a group of blokes about this, I asked them to have a think about their attitudes towards drinking which one bloke replied, "I just love the taste". This is a fair enough response, and it's also the same problem I have with my kids, who love ice cream and chocolate, but trying to teach them that you don't have it every day takes effort.

The fact that going alcohol-free for a month is seen as a challenge for many, highlights just how prevalent alcohol use is in Australia. Alcohol is our most widely used and most accepted drug, and over time it has formed part of our Aussie culture and identity. Its use and associations are many, including advertising, sport, social occasions, celebrations and within the workplace culture. Peer pressure does not only happen to teenagers! Think of the last time you were encouraged to have a drink when you were not planning to. As Joe E. Lewis once quoted "I distrust camels, and anyone else who can go a week without a drink". There seems to be underlying normalisation, glamorisation justification for drinking which is also present in pop-culture, movies (The Hangover) and social media (my friend who posts 'its beer o'clock').

Now I am not saying I'm a shining light leading by example when it comes to abstaining from having a drink, my arm is often twisted a bit too easily. We should all take the chance to have a think about our own individual drinking habits, behaviours and attitudes:

- What example do I set when I drink?
- How often/how much am I drinking?
- Is it to relax?
- Is it to cope or deal with stress?
- Is it habitual or has it become a dependency?

For those who do enjoy a night out, here are a few points to help reduce unhealthy drinking behaviours:

- What mood/state of mind am I in before I drink? Alcohol is a depressant but can also enhance negative behaviours i.e. anger, aggression and reckless risk taking;
- What sort of situation/crowd am I drinking with? Personal safety is up to us! Am I with people I know and trust in a safe environment or am I out with random individuals in a public space?
- Self-regulate by knowing your limits and plan ahead.

Organise a designated driver, take a swag, don't risk it!

- Harm minimisation could involve having a decent meal before going out, serve finger food at parties and remember alcohol dehydrates so drink water before, during and after drinking alcohol;
- Having alcohol-free days is important. At least 2-3 days per week will show two benefits:
  - 1, I can go without a drink, and
  - 2, regenerative effects on the liver (along with many other health benefits).

I recently saw a creative post showing a picture of our political leaders with the caption No matter who wins they will not fix your life, better plan on doing it yourself. Like a lot of things in life and especially alcohol, we can't expect governments and multimillion dollar ad campaigns to reduce the risk, control our use and fix alcohol related problems. Moderation, awareness, responsibility, and balance is the key to our alcohol use.
